- has received full accreditation status from the Council on Accreditation for Children and Family Services (2001 Standards); and

- any person who is used to replace or supplement staff; and
- any person who has access to children, as defined in Section 385.20, Definitions, of 89 Ill. Adm. Code 385, Background Checks.

III. FEDERAL TITLE IV-E REQUIREMENTS

Title IV-E of the Social Security Act [42 U.S.C. 670 et seq.] requires application of the Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard in any foster family home, group home or child care institution serving children in DCFS custody or guardianship. The caregiver must use the Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard when determining whether to allow a child in substitute care to participate in extracurricular, enrichment, cultural, and social activities.

Hold harmless. If a child is suffers an injury participating in an approved activity and the caregiver approving the activity acted in accordance with the reasonable and prudent parent standard, the Department shall hold the caregiver harmless from liability.

Definition of “Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard.” Public Law 113-183 [revising 42 U.S.C. 675(10)] defines Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard as:

the standard characterized by careful and sensible parental decisions that maintain the health, safety, and best interests of a child while at the same time encouraging the emotional and developmental growth of the child, that a caregiver shall use when determining whether to allow a child in foster care under the responsibility of the State to participate in extracurricular, enrichment, cultural, and social activities.

For purposes of the Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard:

- “caregiver” means a licensed foster parent/relative foster parent who is providing care for a child in DCFS custody or guardianship, or a designated official employed by and present at the licensed child care institution or group home in which a child in DCFS custody or guardianship is placed; and
- “age or developmentally appropriate” means:
 - (i) activities or items that are generally accepted as suitable for children of the same chronological age or level of maturity or that are determined to be developmentally appropriate for a child, based on the development of cognitive, emotional, physical, and behavioral capacities that are typical for an age or age group; and
 - (ii) in the case of a specific child, activities or items that are suitable for the child based on the developmental stages attained by the child with respect to the cognitive, emotional, physical, and behavioral capacities of the child.

The primary users of this Policy Guide are all Department staff who are authorized to examine and recommend for licensure child welfare agencies, group homes, child care institutions/maternity centers and youth emergency shelters, as well as private agency staff and their governing bodies who examine and approve the credentials of currently employed staff or applicants for employment in any of the facilities aforementioned.

III. Background

The Council on Social Work Education is the only organization/accrediting body which accredits university/college schools of social work to award M. S .W .and/or B. S .W. degrees.

Since its inception CSWE has carried the accrediting function for Master's degree (M.S.W.) programs in social work. Since July 1, 1974, the Council has also accredited or approved Baccalaureate degree social work programs which prepare students for beginning generalist social work practice. It does not accredit doctoral programs, associate arts degree programs, or minors in social work.

The attached list includes universities and colleges currently accredited and also formerly accredited or approved by the Council. These formerly accredited social work programs are listed on page four of this list.

Please note the dates in parentheses for each of the Master's or Baccalaureate programs. The date in the first parentheses indicates the academic year in which accreditation was first received. The date in the second parentheses indicates the year of the next accreditation review for the program. It is important to watch these dates whenever an employee or prospective employee presents you with their credentials.

IV. Out-of-State Credentials

In case a current or prospective employee presents credentials/degrees from a school of social work outside the State of Illinois, please contact Irene Gagaoudaki in the Department's Office of Rules and Procedures at 406 East Monroe, #65 Springfield, Illinois or phone (217) 524-1983.

V. Filing Instructions

This Policy Guide should be filed immediately after white page Rules 401 or 404 whichever is more appropriate.
