

Diony

Status: Not Yet Freed
for Adoption

Names: Diony

Age: 17

Race: White/Caucasian,
Hispanic/Latino

Gender: Female

State: Illinois - Northern

Case #: 0101C8332

Profile Updated: 03/09/2016

Meet Diony

Diony has been thru a lot and feels as though everyone has failed her in life. Diony sometimes feels as though everyone is out to get her and her siblings. Diony has no problem saying what she is feeling, but she can have a hard time accepting help. She was taught to never ask for help and sees it as a weakness. Diony is very protective of her younger siblings and takes a caregiver role for them since she has been caring for them since they were young.

What Others Say About Diony

There have been no major behavior concerns for Diony at home. Diony can have an attitude at times, which is common for a 16 year old. Diony does not like school, but puts her best efforts into her schoolwork.

What You Can Do For Diony

Diony is at a point where she has just about given up on adoption, however, if a family stepped forward expressing interest in adopting her and her siblings, she would be “the happiest girl in the world.” An adoptive family for Diony should have experience dealing with a teenager whose attitude changes often. Diony expressed that her ideal adoptive family would allow her to learn how to drive and get her drivers license (and hopefully her own car). Diony would also like her family to allow her to have sleepovers with her friends.

Sibling

Dionelly

13, FEMALE