Medicaid Presumptive Eligibility Instructions for Providers

September 2015

MEDICAID PRESUMPTIVE ELIGIBILITY PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Medicaid Presumptive Eligibility (MPE) program is one of Illinois' infant mortality reduction initiatives. Because prenatal care is important in preventing health problems during pregnancy and in promoting newborn health, the program was developed to promote early and continuous prenatal care and to remove financial barriers in obtaining such care.

The intent of the MPE program is to provide immediate, temporary, limited medical assistance (ambulatory care services only--no inpatient care) to pregnant women.

Eligibility for the program is established on the basis of the pregnant woman's statement of her pregnancy, her statement of her family's gross monthly income and her attestation of Illinois state residency. Eligibility determinations for the MPE program are made only by qualified, enrolled MPE providers certified by the Department. The Department of Healthcare and Family Services All Kids Unit and Department of Human Services local offices do NOT determine MPE eligibility.

COVERED SERVICES:

If a pregnant woman is eligible for MPE, she can receive ambulatory medical care that includes prenatal checkups, medically necessary visits to Medicaid enrolled providers, lab tests, prenatal vitamins, prescription drugs, and transportation to and from a source of medical care. She is also eligible to receive eye care, dental care, and emergency room services. Because inpatient services (including labor and delivery) are not covered under MPE, it is important that the pregnant woman complete an online application by going to www.abe.illinois.gov or apply by phone at 1-800-843-6154 or submit a paper application (2378MC or 2378KC) for ongoing medical assistance while her MPE coverage is still in effect. Once she is determined eligible for ongoing medical assistance (Medicaid) she is provided with a Medical card, which will cover the full range of Medicaid benefits including hospitalizations and long term care.

QUALIFIED MPE PROVIDERS:

In accordance with federal requirements, an MPE provider enters into and abides by the terms of the Medicaid Presumptive Eligibility Provider Agreement and furnishes services of the type provided by outpatient hospitals, rural health clinics or freestanding maternity clinics and meets one of the following:

- receives funding under the federal community or migrant health programs under sections 330 and 330A of the Public Health Service Act;
- receives funding under Title V Maternal and Child Health Block Grant;
- receives funding under Title V of the Indian Health Improvement Act;
- participates in the State's perinatal program;
- receives a grant under the Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC);
- receives a grant under the Commodity Supplemental Food Program under the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act; or
- is the Indian Health Service or a health program operated by the tribe or tribal organization under the Indian Self-Determination Act.

Many MPE providers perform outreach, educational and case management functions. The MPE provider's case management activities and educational programs that stress the importance of prenatal care and healthy lifestyle practices are beneficial to the pregnant woman and her unborn child. MPE providers also assist the pregnant woman in locating other medical care provider(s), or provide referrals to other available resources (such as WIC, day care, etc.) as needed. The MPE provider must inform the pregnant woman of her right of freedom of choice of medical providers participating in the Illinois Medical Assistance Program. Enrolled Medicaid providers who provide medical care to MPE eligible women will be reimbursed at the current Medicaid rate. Providers may contact the Bureau of Comprehensive Health Services at (217) 782-5565 to obtain rate information for covered services, or for billing inquiries.

DETERMINATION OF MPE ELIGIBILITY:

1.) Family Size:

Family size is considered when determining whether the pregnant woman meets the income standard for MPE. Family is defined as the pregnant woman, her unborn child(ren), her husband, and children/stepchildren under the age of 19 living in her home. If the pregnant woman is under the age of 19 and lives with her parents/stepparents, then the parents/stepparents and any siblings under age 19 are counted in the family size in addition to her husband, unborn child(ren) and her existing children under 19.

2.) Income:

In order to be considered eligible for MPE, the family income must be at or below the established standard. The woman's declaration of the family income is all that is needed for the MPE provider to complete the MPE application. Proof of income is NOT needed for completion of the MPE application, but will be necessary when the woman applies for ongoing benefits.

Count the gross monthly income of everyone who is included in the pregnant woman's family size.

Although the gross monthly income of other persons may be considered when determining eligibility for MPE, only the pregnant woman is provided with medical coverage.

3.) Pregnancy:

The woman's declaration of pregnancy is all that is needed for the MPE provider to complete the MPE application. The MPE provider's authorized signature on the MPE application is sufficient to establish eligibility for MPE; no other verification is necessary. An expected delivery date or the number of fetuses is not required on the MPE application; however, if available, the information is requested.

- A woman does not need to be a citizen or documented immigrant to qualify for MPE
- Proof of citizenship is not required for MPE eligibility.
- Legal immigration status does not affect eligibility for MPE.
- A social security number is NOT required for MPE eligibility but is very helpful to include if available.

4.) Attestation of State Residency:

The applicant must attest to whether she is or is not an Illinois resident. Do not require verification of state residency.

INITIAL MPE COVERAGE

Medical coverage for MPE begins on the day that the MPE provider determines the pregnant woman eligible for the program. (MPE coverage cannot be backdated). Initial MPE eligibility ends on the last day of the month following the month of MPE determination if the woman fails to apply for ongoing assistance. This means that a pregnant woman who does not apply for ongoing benefits is only guaranteed a minimum eligibility period of at least one day, plus the next full calendar month. The MPE period may end earlier if a final determination of eligibility is made on an application for full coverage.

- A determination date of July 1 results in a Medicaid presumptive eligibility period of July 1 through August 31.
- A determination date of July 14 results in a Medicaid presumptive eligibility period of July 14 through August 31.
- A determination date of July 31 results in a Medicaid Presumptive eligibility period of July 31 through August 31.

A pregnant woman can only receive MPE coverage once during her pregnancy, but the period of MPE will be extended if an application for full medical coverage is received before the initial MPE period ends.

EXTENDED MPE COVERAGE:

Pregnant women who are covered by the initial MPE coverage and then apply for ongoing medical assistance by the end of the month following the month in which the determination of MPE was made will receive an extension of MPE coverage. The MPE extension lasts until a final determination of eligibility is made on the application for full coverage. The extension period begins when receipt of the ABE application is recorded on the Department’s data system.

- An MPE determination date of August 15 results in an initial MPE coverage of August 15 through September 30. The application for ongoing assistance is received by the All Kids Unit on August 27 and entered into the computer system on August 29. Extended MPE coverage begins August 29 and continues until a decision is made on the application for ongoing medical assistance.
- An MPE determination date of August 2 results in an initial MPE coverage of August 2 through September 30. The pregnant woman requests cash assistance and make application in person at the local office on August 5. Extended MPE coverage begins August 5 and continues until a decision is made on the application for ongoing medical assistance.

ONGOING MEDICAL ASSISTANCE:

To qualify for MPE, an application for ongoing medical coverage is not required but highly recommended. Since MPE coverage is limited and temporary, it is vital that the pregnant woman apply for ongoing medical assistance. This application, if approved, will provide coverage for her hospitalization and the delivery. Additionally, if the pregnant woman is eligible for ongoing assistance at the time of delivery, her newborn can be added to the case and receive medical coverage for the first year of life without requiring a separate application or signed request. This application also provides the pregnant woman’s family with the opportunity to apply for other children and adults living in the home.

The pregnant woman can apply for ongoing health coverage by:

- going online at abe.illinois.gov/Apply for Benefits;
- applying by phone at 1-800-843-6154 (TTY: 1-800-447-6404);
- completing an application through an All Kids Application Agent;
- completing an application on her own and mailing it to the HFS All Kids Unit or the local DHS office; or
- applying in person at the local DHS Family Community Resource Center.

The MPE provider along with the applicant completes the following forms, if applicable:

You do not have to sign-in to the provider portal to help someone complete an ABE application. If you have submitted an MPE application, please note that fact in the comments section of the application.

- ABE allows you to upload supporting documentation at the end of the application. This helps the Department process the application more quickly.
- ABE provides a summary page with the application Tracking Number and a “What’s Next” document at the end of the application. Be sure to print out at least the summary page with the tracking number, to give to the applicant before she leaves.

THE MEDICAL CARD

The Medical Card will be mailed to the pregnant woman when the MPE enrollment is received and registered by the All Kids Unit. The card provides her name, date of birth and recipient identification number. The Medicaid enrolled provider must verify her eligibility before providing outpatient services. Medicaid providers can verify eligibility using one of the established methods: MEDI at www.myhfs.com, the EDI vendor or the automated Voice Response System (AVRS). However, the participant must contact the provider to confirm they are accepting new patients. The card will be in the form of the Medical Card, Form HFS 469.

NOTICE OF DECISION

APPROVAL

Give Form 3090 or 3090K Notice of Instructions to Pregnant Applicant. See Appendices C and D.

DENIAL

Federal regulations require notifying the applicant when she does not qualify for presumptive eligibility. See Appendix E for the denial form. Use one of the following reasons to deny MPE coverage to an ineligible applicant:

- Income exceeds the limit for MPE;
- MPE coverage limited to one time per pregnancy;
- Applicant stated she is not pregnant;
- Applicant stated she is not an Illinois resident; or
- Information needed for an eligibility determination was not provided.

When the applicant fails to provide information about household income or the number of people living with her or will not self-attest to being pregnant or being an Illinois resident, the applicant is not eligible for MPE.

Give Form 3090D/S Notice of Decision to the pregnant applicant. If the applicant's income is over the limit, she may still qualify for Medicaid with a spenddown. Help the applicant complete and submit a Medicaid application.
