Third Party Liability Resource Code Directory

Third Party Liability (TPL) codes appear in the “Source Code” field found in the TPL section of the participant’s MEDI eligibility verification. The code consists of a three digit numeric resource code that may be prefixed with an alphabetic coverage code. When it is present, the alpha coverage code defines the extent of services covered by the TPL source. The alpha coverage codes and level of coverage denoted are as follows:

Group Insurance through Employment

- A - Comprehensive health insurance, dental insurance, vision insurance
- B - Comprehensive health insurance, dental insurance
- C - Comprehensive health insurance
- D - Basic health insurance (high deductibles, high co-payments, etc.)

Individual Insurance

- E - Comprehensive health insurance
- F - Basic health - policyholder under age 65
- G - Medicare supplement insurance - policyholder over age 65
- H - Limited insurance (Accident only, cancer only, etc.)
- I - Hospital indemnity insurance

Example: A participant who is insured under a health plan written by Aetna Life Insurance Company will have the TPL resource code 001. A prefix alpha "A" code will be added to the TPL resource code (A001) to denote a comprehensive health insurance plan that is underwritten by Aetna, once the Department has verified the coverage.

A TPL Code Directory is available on the Department’s website. The directory contains an alphabetical listing of insuring organizations and the TPL code assigned to each, as well as a numerical listing, by TPL code, of the same insuring organizations.
