Communication Details:

Provide a detailed summary of the points made by each person involved in the communication:
ICEA Initiator and member participants held a conceptual, theoretical and educational discussion with Mr. Star and Mr. Strong regarding the advantages of including a Full Requirements Load Following Product and multiple procurements as part of the IPA's Draft Procurement Plan to be released on or about August 15, 2013. The ICEA initiator and member participants outlined from its point of view and experience the customer benefits and advantages of a Full Requirements Product if it were part of the IPA Procurement Plan, the experience of other states using Full Requirements, and various technical issues regarding a full requirements product, customer switching and load forecasts.
IPA COMM FORM V1 120216

Was a response made? If so, complete the following for each person making the response (attach an additional sheet that lists the other respondents' names, job titles, which entity they represent, email address and/or telephone number, if applicable):

Respondent Name:

Mr. Anthony Starr

Respondent Title:

Acting Director, Illinois Power Agency

Location:

160 North LaSalle Street, Suite C-504, Chicago, IL 60601

Telephone Number (if telephonic):

Provide a detailed summary of the response:

Mr. Star indicated that the IPA would be evaluating the merits, risk analysis, cost and benefits of Full Requirements and multiple procurements in the upcoming Draft Procurement Plan as this issue had been raised by the ICEA initiator and member participants in past procurement plans. Mr. Star indicated that the ICEA initiator and member participant would have to wait until the Draft Procurement Plan was released regarding the IPA's analysis and recommendation of Full Requirements and multiple procurements, and thanked the ICEA initiator and member participants for providing their insight and views.

Other pertinent information:

The tardiness of this required report by the ICEA initiator is an oversight and regrets its late issuance.
